POST OFFICE HOURS.

BEAUFORT, S. C., Sept. 24, 1873.
On and after Monday Oct. 6th, office open from 8:15 a. m. until 4 p. m., mail closes at 8:15 a. m. mail delivered at 2:40 p. m.

P. E. EZEKIEL,
Postmaster.

There is some talk of a steam fire engine for Beaufort.

Beaufort will boast of a photograph gallery in a few days.

Dr. Jenkins, is building a drug store and office on Bay street.

The brass band makes plenty of noise, and little music.

Mr. Pollitzer has laid the foundation for a new warehouse.

More than a half dozen small houses are building about town.

The old names of streets are to be restored and sign boards with names put on each corner of the street.

On the first of November the city fathers promised to begin to light the street lamps.

The steamer Allison is one of the uncertain things of life, no telling when she is coming. So the merchants say.

P. M. Whitman's house has been fixed and renovated and will soon be occupied by the Mayo's.

The article on Direct Trade in connection with Port Royal, from the London Cosmopolitan, shows that our port is attracting much attention abroad.

Some of the attaches of the legislature have returned to Beaufort, poorer but wiser men, cause—no money—no sinecures.

A late county pauper was buried at town expense last week. The Commissioners should send discharged paupers to their friends, and not leave them a burden to the town authorities.

There are plenty of dogs without badges that annoy pedestrians. If the town Marshal will enforce the ordinances, there will be fewer worthless curs to keep people awake nights.

The schooner Breeze, which left Coosaw with a load of phosphate on the 24th of August was abandoned at sea on the 30th of the same month. Her crew were rescued and taken to Liverpool.

A Chance for the Cosmos.

The managers of the Greenville Agricultural society have decided to give a purse of one hundred dollars to the successful club in a base ball match to be played in that place during the fair on Thursday, the 6th November. Clubs wishing to contend for the prize may send in their names to J. W. Gray, E. q. or Mr. E. L. Owens, at Greenville.

Mr. Speaker Lee, at the opening of the session delivered an able address, in which he took occasion in the strongest language to recommend legislative measures, for procuring through lines of rail communication, to the South Carolina seaboard. For his able advocacy of this great measure he is deserving the thanks of the people of the state, but more especially those of Port Royal, and vicinity.

County Taxes.

The county commissioners have rendered their annual statement of estimated expenditures for the year beginning Nov. 1, 1873 and ending Oct. 31, 1874. The following are the items:

Diary, clothing, and burial of poor	$5,000 00
Medical attendance and medicines for poor	1,000 00
Public buildings	1,000 00
Trial Justices	300 00
Commissioner's salary	600 00
Stationery	600 00
Printing	2,000 00
Sheriff	1,200 00
Jail	1,200 00
Solicitor	800 00
Auditor, to pay assessors	1,000 00
Clerk of court	800 00
Jury Commission	25 00
Coroner	250 00
Grand and petit jurors, witnesses & constables	3,500 00
Commissioner's accounts	1,000 00
Treasurer's commissions	1,250 00
Total	$22,575 00

They at the same time, recommended that a tax of four mills be levied for county purposes, in addition to the two mills which will be collected to pay past indebtedness. If this recommendation is complied with our county taxes will be six mills on the dollar.

The state is coming down on us for about twenty mills. It is thought, so that we may prepare for some pretty hard times between this and January next.

The Granges and Port Royal.

Last week an important Grange meeting was held in Atlanta, Georgia. The subject of direct trade as a means of emancipation from the dominance of New York in the money markets of the country was under serious discussion. Upon the announcement being made that a line of European steamers had been secured by Mr. D. F. Appleton, to run between Port Royal and Liverpool it was resolved that the Atlanta Grange would send 3,000 bales of cotton by the Port Royal Dominion line direct to Liverpool during the present season.

This resolution is, we hope, the indication of a wide-spread feeling in the south and west. With such material and moral support the future of Port Royal is assuredly brilliant.

Bark Ashore.

The new bark T. Jeffe Southward, bound for Tybee went ashore Saturday 25th inst., off Trenchards Inlet. After beating about on the shoals, the bark went on the north breaker off Port Royal, where she was boarded Sunday at 3 p. m., by Capt. Early, of the pilot boat Key-stone. About the same time the steam tug Forest City, came to her assistance. At 8 o'clock p. m., the tug abandoned the ship, the captain of the tug saying it was no use to try and get her off that night. At 10 p. m., Capt. Early tried to work the vessel off under canvas; at 11 o'clock the vessel had moved six hundred yards, when she again stopped; at 12 midnight Capt. Early succeeded in getting the Southward in eight fathoms of water, when he anchored. The vessel was got off without much damage and was towed down to Tybee on Monday night, where she was bound for orders.

We regret to state that the pilot boat Keystone while assisting the bark, lost an anchor and cable, and went ashore on the breakers, rendering her at present unseaworthy.

The Key-stone's crew were aboard of the bark assisting the vessel, the pilot boat had been left at anchor as a light to direct the movements in getting the bark off. The skill and perseverance of Capt. Early doubtless saved the bark from total wreck as before the next tide made the wind had shifted to the south and west rendering it impossible to so work her canvass as to get her off, if delayed until then.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Postmaster General Creswell's Panic Panacea—Federal Government Savings Bank and the Postal Telegraph.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.

At a republican mass meeting held here to-night, Postmaster General Creswell advanced his ideas of postal savings banks which, it is understood, will be enlarged upon in his annual report. He spoke of the only fault of the national banking system being that the depositor is not equally protected with the biholder, and said that government might, through its department, provide the machinery whereby the laboring masses could have the fruit of their toil protected from lawless speculation and guarded with absolute security. He contended that by this plan every suitable post office could be used to receive deposits of the people and transmit them to the department at Washington, to be invested, under the direction of designated officers, in the bonds of the United States. By this arrangement the security of depositors would be based upon the foundation stone of the republic. In times of panic people, instead of hoarding means, would place on deposit with the government to be invested in government bonds and loans and then sent into circulation. Like water, currency thus furnished would flow to points of the lowest depression, and tend to correct all derangements of circulation, however caused. Thus the people would be served by the security of their investments, a government would be served by the means placed at its disposal, and the banks and capitalists would be served because the tendency to prevent the hoarding of the currency of the country.

"I am aware," he said, "that this plan will meet with opposition from some banks and capitalists, who would compel people to deposit with them upon their own terms, and thus afford them the use of so much additional capital; but let it be remembered that I am not speaking in the interest of banks or capitalists; I am speaking for poor people who are to be protected, and not in behalf of the banks, many of whom have given a notable instance of the manner in which they can violate their promise to pay. But why should the banks complain? In addition to their chartered privileges, government has recently interposed in their behalf. By the act of June 8, 1872, the banks were authorized to deposit for their better security their United States notes in the national treasury, receiving therefor certificates of deposit which might be counted as a part of their reserve used for clearing house purposes, and converted at pleasure in the place where deposits were made. Under this law the treasury of the United States has been used as a place of safe deposits for the banks to the extent of millions. Why, then, should it not be used with equal propriety and to the same extent for the security of the masses of the people?"

Mr. Creswell argued that the post of fee banks would furnish the government with the money to establish a postal telegraph. He said every indication points to the early success of that great measure. "As the people are entitled to pure water and pure air, so are they, in my judgment, equally entitled to the best and cheapest modes of communication and intercourse." No men or set of men have a right arbitrarily to seize upon the lands and use them as a means of levying tribute upon their fellow men. I believe that the electric current has been given by God for the benefit of the whole human race.

PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS.

A prominent New York physician lately consulted by DUNDAS DICK about his Sundae Oil Capsules, stating that sometimes they cured miraculously, but that a patient of his had taken them for some time without effect. On being informed that several imitations were made and sold, he inquired and found that his patient had been taking capsules sold in bottles, and not DUNDAS DICK & CO'S.

What happened to this physician may have happened to others, and DUNDAS DICK & CO. take this method of protecting physicians, druggists and themselves, and preventing Oil of Sundae from coming into disrepute.

PHYSICIANS who once prescribe the Capsules will continue to do so, for they contain the pure Oil in the best and cheapest form.

DUNDAS DICK & CO. use mojo Oil of Sundae in the manufacture of their Capsules than all the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and perfumers in the United States combined, and this is the sole reason why the pure Oil is sold cheaper in their Capsules than in any other form.

OIL OF SANDALWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules only being required to insure a safe and certain cure in six or eight days. From no other medicine can this result be had.

DICK'S SOFT CAPSULES solve the problem long considered by many eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disgust experienced in swallowing, which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effect of many valuable remedies. Soft Capsules are put up in tin-fol and neat boxes, and are the only capsules prescribed by Physicians.

These were the only Capsules admitted to the last Paris Exposition.
